Message from our Board of Directors and CEO

As we approach the third year of the COVID-19 global health pandemic, the challenges continue to affect the most disadvantaged communities worldwide.

In addition to the after-effects of a global pandemic, the emerging climate crisis has triggered more natural disasters, from unprecedented floods in South Asia to intensifying droughts in the Horn of Africa. Political crises in Afghanistan, Yemen and elsewhere have led to unstable and unsustainable situations for millions in those countries. Refugees and displaced populations from all of these challenges continue to look for opportunity and security. Furthermore, inflation, unemployment, and soaring gas and food prices have increased the number in poverty, globally and locally, for families here in Canada.

Despite all of that, the generosity of our donors did not fade; it grew. Through your support, we successfully implemented 106 projects in 29 countries to provide access to clean water, quality education, health care, nutritious food, and economic development for 1,894,093 people.

As you can conclude from the results and details of the projects in this annual report, supporters like you have helped us deliver meaningful programming that has made a tremendous, positive impact on the lives of so many beneficiaries. A heartfelt thank-you from IDRF to all of our supporters for the critical role you play in our ability to deliver these programs. Together we are people helping people.

However, our work continues. With ongoing projects and emergencies worldwide, it becomes even more critical to continue supporting and building resilient and sustainable communities. We look forward to fulfilling our 'Brighter Future' mission, serving more people and amplifying our impact by providing sustainable and long-term solutions in each project we implement.

We are so honoured that you have chosen to support IDRF. We cannot do this vital work without your continued trust and support. Thank you.

A Five Year Strategy 2021 - 2026

At IDRF, our programs focus on addressing current challenges while investing in the future of people and communities. We incorporate these practices through our five-year strategy of “A Brighter Future”.

For each sector, our programming reflects the needs that arise during emergency responses, alongside the need to deliver long-term sustainable solutions. At IDRF, our programs actively address and work toward the UN’s Sustainable Development Goals so that we can create a brighter future for those who need it most.

The Future of Food Security

Sustainability is a multifaceted issue, in which food access and meeting basic nutritional needs is crucial. Achieving a healthy and sustainable food future is an urgent matter that depends on global collaboration. In the next five years, IDRF aims to achieve a sustainable and resilient food system through our communities by:

- Ensuring our food packages address the complex cultural and regional needs.
- Increase women’s active participation and leadership in the decision making process of local food access and security.
- Supporting farmers and local communities to adapt to climate change and build more resilient food systems.

Water for All

Water and sanitation flow through every aspect of sustainable development. We believe that access to this essential service is a human right. In the coming years, IDRF aims to improve water security for the most vulnerable communities. This will be done by implementing and altering affordable access to clean drinking water, by:

- Ensuring management structures that are gender-inclusive
- Creating multi-use water systems to provide for communities, healthcare facilities and agriculture.
- Continuing to build and rehabilitate water wells that will be supported and maintained by the local community.

Better Health, Brighter Futures

The global pandemic has significantly affected global health and health systems. Years of progress made in global health is now at risk of disappearing. In the next 5 years, IDRF aims to repair and strengthen access to healthcare by:

- Strengthening local health systems through capacity building, establishing remote clinics and providing medical equipment.
- Supporting midwifery programs and establishing women's health centres.
- Expanding access to diagnostic services.

Education is the Future

Education is vital in alleviating poverty, improving lives, and creating thriving communities. For our 5-year strategy, IDRF will work towards promoting learning and development for all, through:

- Providing education services for children and youth and aid in minimizing the psychological impact of disasters and emergencies.
- Removing and reducing the lack of accessibility to education for girls and children with special needs.
- Continue to provide food and financial assistance to students and their families.

Training for their Future

Equitable and sustainable economic recovery is key in building resilient communities. In the next 5 years, IDRF aims to ensure marginalized communities are not left behind in the global economic recovery efforts by:

- Develop and promote sustainable agriculture and livestock programs.
- Address gender disparity and gender pay gap in the workforce
- Promote small and medium-sized businesses and support informal sector workers

Emergency Responses

When natural disasters or conflicts arise, IDRF aims to be the first on the ground to provide immediate relief and aid.

For the last 38 years, we have responded to emergencies like: floods, droughts, earthquakes, political and economical crises, and more.

This year, 294,876 people were supported when they needed immediate interventions.

The Reason She Smiles

Ramla lost her husband and two of her sons who used to support her in terms of food and money. Before the support she received from IDRF, Ramla often found herself going to sleep hungry as she was not able to provide for herself.

Today, I have a reason to smile because I have not been smiling for a while, as my life has been characterized by worry and stress because of too many problems in life.

Emergency Response Distribution Process

Our emergency efforts focus on short-term interventions and long-term programming. We do this by prioritizing sustainability through our Respond, Rebuild, Recover, Resilience implementation process during an emergency response:

Respond

Our response efforts include providing essential items to help as a means for people to survive as soon as an emergency occurs. This includes emergency first aid, food, health care support, water, hygiene, and sanitation items.

Rebuild

Once immediate needs are taken care of, we focus on rebuilding the infrastructure of communities across the affected region. We do this by creating new infrastructures or rehabilitating what already exists. This includes shelter rehabilitation and access to clean drinkable water.

Recovery

With a focus on long term recovery, we then focus on building accessibility towards prosperous futures. This is done by providing access to; livelihood training, installing water, sanitation and hygiene infrastructures and providing educational assistance. We do this by supporting small businesses, reconstructing schools, and operationalizing educational activities.

Resilience

Ultimately, IDRF's goal is to ensure vulnerable communities are more resilient by providing programs that help communities become self-sufficient. This further helps them to avoid falling into more if a disaster were to occur again. IDRF does this by establishing Disaster Risk Reduction (DRR) programs within local communities.

The Future of Food Security

Access to food and nutrition is a basic human right. According to the World Food Program, a total of 50 million people in 45 countries are on the edge of famine.

This is the result of multiple factors like inflation, conflict, climate change, economic, and health crises. This year, 769,20 people in 22 countries, received food assistance through IDRF's food security programs.

57,557

people in Somalia provided with food parcels

Water for All

In the last year, four billion people - almost two thirds of the world's population, experienced severe water scarcity.

The lack of accessibility to water disproportionately affects women and girls who are often responsible for traveling long distances to collect water. This year, we provided 626,864 people with access to clean water and hygiene-related services.

Better Health, Brighter Futures

Training for their Future

According to the UN approximately 255 million full-time jobs were lost during worldwide lockdowns.

While the global economy is slowly recovering, there are still large portions of vulnerable populations that have been forgotten and continue to be marginalized in the recovery, and in accessing economic opportunities.

This year, 4,618 people received training and support to start businesses and pursue economic opportunities.

A Brighter Future at Home

Charity and relief starts at home.

Our efforts in Canada focus on youth empowerment, women empowerment, gender inclusivity in the workforce, and economic development.

This year, 1,985 Canadians received training and tutoring support to pursue higher education and career opportunities.
